Biography:

Mean Streak is a Swedish metal band who manages the legacy of traditional heavy metal. The band was formed in 2008 by Peter Andersson. The general idea was (and still is) to write classic metal straight from the heart. In the beginning of 2008 Peter wrote some songs in his studio, mostly for his own amusement. The first song written was "Rock City" which is found on the band's debut album. Later that same year Peter contacted Andy La Guerin for vocal duties. The collaboration was a success and after a few months of writing the idea of making an album was formed. Jonas Källsbäck was hired to play the drums and the foundation of Mean Streak was thereby complete.

The album "Metal Slave" reached the stores in September 2009 and made a huge impact on the European and Japanese metal markets. The album received 8/10 in Rock Hard magazine as well as 89/100 in Burrn! and received airplay on metal radio stations all over the world including Bruce Dickinson on BBC 6. The reviews worldwide was overwhelming. A number of shows in clubs also took place.

In June 2010 song writing for the second album "Declaration Of War" was initiated. This album was released in January 2011 and in conjunction with that the band did their first tour out of Europe. The journey went towards Japan where the album received great reviews from press and fans alike. After the touring had been completed there was a change in line-up. Patrik was replaced by Thomas "Plec" Johansson.

During a recreation trip to Thailand in 2012, Peter and Plec started to lay out the plans for a third Mean Streak album. It was decided that the rest of the year would be spent writing and recording new material. This time no stone would be left unturned in the making of the perfect heavy metal album. Peter had a handful of songs in a raw demo state and with these as foundation Peter and Andy sat down to complete the new tracks. In March 2013 "Trial By Fire" was ready to be delivered to Black Lodge and Bicke Music.

In February 2015 Peter began writing new material for a fourth album. The writing and demo-recording took place in his project studio in Malaga Spain. 12 new songs made it to the final recordings that began in December 15 in Panic Room Studios Sweden. In October 2016 the mixing - this time the man behind the mixing desk is no other than the world famous producer Max Norman. Norman is perhaps best known for his work with Ozzy Osbourne and Megadeth as well as Lynch Mob and Y & T.

The new album will be called "Blind Faith".

Plans are in progress right now for festivals and tours through 2017/18 !!!
