DE:

Die brasilianische Gothic Metal Band Semblant ist eine der aufstrebendsten Bands aus Südamerika. In den USA sind sie schon lange kein Geheimtipp mehr, mit ihrem neuste Album "Lunar Manifesto" sollte ihnen der Erfolg auch in Europa gelingen. Der von Semblant gespielte dunkle und progressive Gothic Metal mit Doppelgesang von Mizuho Lin und Sergio Mazul erinnert of an Nightwish/Lacuna Coil oder auch an Evanescence und Cradle of Filth.

Bio:

Brazilian Gothic Metallers Semblant have had a pretty big year. After several independent releases in their native Brazil, and rapidly becoming one of the most storied Metal bands in South America, 2016 saw Semblant re-release their hugely successful independent debut LUNAR MANIFESTO via EMP Label Group, the label owned by Megadeth bassist David Ellefson, bringing the band to a global audience.

Earlier this month the independently released video for "What Lies Ahead" surpassed 10 million views on Youtube, with the other videos from LUNAR MANIFESTO well on their way, with "Dark of the Day" recently surpassing 2 million, and the recently released clip for "Incinerate", the incendiary track that kicks off Lunar Manifesto, approaching 100k inside of 2 weeks.

Semblant found an embracing audience at US METAL radio in 2016 as well, with LUNAR MANIFESTO debuting at #4 most added on the CMJ LOUD ROCK CHARTS and enjoying airplay across the country. Now EMP, (known in Europe as Ellefson Music Productions) in partnership with SPV, is set to release Lunar Manifesto in Europe to the delight of the band's massive international fanbase.

Hailing from humble beginnings in Curitiba, Brazil, Semblant has found a huge audience throughout North and South America, Europe and beyond with their brand of dark, progressive, gothic Metal, highlighted by the dual vocals of Mizuho Lin and Sergio Mazul, being compared to acts ranging from Nightwish to Lacuna Coil to Evanescence to Cradle of Filth,.

Says EMP A&R and Operations Director Thom Hazaert, who discovered and signed the band to EMP, "When I first stumbled onto Semblant, like most of the World, on Youtube, I was instantly struck by (female vocalist) Mizuho (Lin), and how interesting the band was. Numbers don't lie, and I watched the video shoot from a million views to almost 2 million inside of a month. here we are a year later, the video just hit 10 Million, and the World loves Semblant."

Ellefson adds, "I can't say how excited we are that we were able to find such an incredible band, who has already found huge success on their own, and to be able to get involved and take it to the next level. There has always been a strong Metal culture in Brazil, which is really emerging now internationally with bands like Angra, Semblant, Machinage etc., and we were blessed to be able to pick up one of their most promising exports."
